ABSTRACT

This resource guide is a teacher's handbook to locating persons in the community who are willing, upon request, to talk with students in grades one through twelve on subjects being taught in the schools. The guide also informs the teacher as to what tours or field trips are available and lists alphabetically 279 different topics for which resources are available with the names of over 180 individuals, groups, organizations, businesses, and industries that are willing to assist teachers. Included with the guide are sample letters and questionnaires that were sent to community leaders and individual volunteers enlisting their cooperation in compiling this guide and implementing the program of school and community cooperation. COMMUNITY RESOURCE GUIDE

Rock Hill School District Number Three
Rock Hill, South Carolina

DESCRIPTION: The Community Resource Guide is the teacher's handbook to locating persons who are willing, upon request, to talk with students on subjects being taught in the schools. The guide also informs the teacher as to what tours or field trips are available. The guide itself is an alphabetical listing of 279 different topics for which resources are available and the names of over 180 individuals, groups, organizations, businesses, and industries which are willing to assist teachers.

BACKGROUND: In February 1975 teachers in all District Three schools were asked to recommend persons, groups, organizations, or companies who might be willing to serve as a resource to students and, on occasion, to teachers (see attachment A). The local Chamber of Commerce was asked to provide a membership roster, and all members received a letter from the District requesting volunteers or recommendations (see attachment B). Letters were also sent to: deans of the faculty of local colleges, personnel directors of local businesses and industries, all banking institutions, the board of realtors, the dental and bar associations, and any individual or group associated with a large number of people. In addition, the local news media assisted by informing the public that the School District was looking for resource persons from the community.

After all information on recommendations and volunteers had been received, duplicated suggestions were eliminated along with controversial topics which had no bearing on subjects being taught in the schools. Personal letters were then sent to each volunteer and recommended persen. Information sheets were included with each letter (see attachments C, D, and E), and persons contacted were requested to return the sheets with their response.

When the information had been returned, the book was then compiled, printed, and distributed to each teacher. All teachers received their own book because it was felt that more teachers would take advantage of the opportunity to use resources if they had ready access to a listing.

REQUESTS: Unless specified in the guide, all requests for speakers or tours are channeled through the Office of Public Information. In this way, the resources are not called continuously by teachers, and it is possible to know who is being used as a speaker in our schools and when and how often. The teacher submits a request form (see attachment F), and when a speaker (or tour) has been secured, the teacher's request form is returned with the required information. All confirmations of speaking engagements and tour dates are confirmed in writing by the Office of Public Information. Teachers are also encouraged to write "thank you" notes following a presentation.

EVALUATION: The program was put into effect in January 1976. Since several agencies handle their own requests, an exact number of actual requests is not known. However, it is estimated that over 200 speakers and tours were requested during the 1976-77 school year, and that the number will increase during the 1977-78 school term. The guide is constantly updated, and teachers are informed when additional topics have been added.

ROCK HILL, SOUTH CAROLINA - 29730

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To: Teachers, Principals, and Administrative Staffs
From: B. Jeff Savage, Jr.
Subject: Community Resource Book
Date: February 19, 1975

On several different occasions you have been informed that the District plans to publish a Community Resource Book listing those persons, businesses, or organizations which, at the request of the teacher, may be willing to speak to pupils or lend materials on various topics pertaining to the curriculum in grades 1-12.

We are now seeking the names of such persons, etc., and have come to you first for suggestions. Please know that you are not being asked to contact the party you recommend; this will be done at the central office. What we need is general information about the party you know personally or know of who might be willing to assist the classroom teacher. Just think! If every teacher in District Three could suggest just one source, we would be well on our way.

Therefore, will you please let us know your suggestions by returning this sheet to your principal by Monday, February 24. We realize that we will receive duplications, but please don't assume that someone else will automatically submit your suggestion.

Your help is needed and deeply appreciated.

ROCK HILL SCHOOL DISTRICT NUMBER THREE

522 EAST MAIN STREET

ROCK HILL, SOUTH CAROLINA - 29730

February 24, 1975

Dear Community Leader:

The Rock Hill School District needs your help. We are now searching for persons throughout the community who might be willing to share their personal experiences or lend materials for a particular subject being taught in the schools. To give you an example of what I mean, please consider the following:

The fourth grade class at Sample Elementary School is studying South America; and the teacher, Mrs. Jones, is looking for information to supplement the textbook. John Doe, a member of the community, has lived (or visited) in South America and has on hand numerous souvenirs including pictures, films, or slides of the people and the cities. If Mr. Doe would be willing to share his experiences with these fourth graders, he could possibly provide information beyond the classroom study. However, Mr. Doe may feel uncomfortable talking before a group but would be willing to lend his materials to Mrs. Jones. Either way, Mr. Doe would have provided a valuable service.

By March 14 I need general information about possible sources. If you would like to be considered as a resource person, please let me know. Or if you know of someone else who might serve, list that person's name. It is not necessary that you contact the person, as this will be done by my staff. Once all suggestions have been received and contacts have been made, a booklet on community resources will be prepared and distributed to teachers in District Three for use during the 1975-76 school year.

Your help is needed and deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

BJ Savage Jr.

B. Jeff Savage, Jr.

COMMUNITY RESOURCE QUESTIONNAIRE

Dear ______________________:

Most people agree that "experience is a great teacher" and "not all education comes from reading books." Students and teachers can learn much from local people who have unusual or interesting talents, hobbies, experiences, or collections. They enjoy listening to stories about the people, customs, and places in other states and countries; viewing collections of coins, stamps, pictures, arrowheads, rocks, and other articles from this area and around the world; seeing how to make or do certain activities as in arts and crafts, music, dance, etc.; and learning about different jobs and the many other things which are a part of everyday living.

Realizing this, the Rock Hill School District wants to prepare a "Community Resource Booklet" listing the names of community members who would be willing to visit various classes in grades K-12 or lend materials to teachers. Your name was recently submitted to us based ____.

If you would agree to serve as a resource, you would be contacted by the Office of Public Information when a teacher has requested your services; therefore, you would not be receiving numerous calls from teachers, and you could determine how often you would like to serve.

With this information in mind, will you please complete the appropriate section(s):

SECTION I: Personal Data

Name ____

Address ______________________________ Phone ______________

Present Occupation ______________________________________

SECTION II: Willingness to Serve as Resource

_____ I am willing to serve as a resource. (If you checked this answer, please complete the remaining sections.)

_____ I will be unable to serve as a resource. (If you checked this answer, please return this sheet in the envelope provided. It will not be necessary for you to complete additional information. Thank you.)

SECTION III: Information on Topic(s) For Which You Were Recommended

_____ I am willing to speak on the topic(s) for which I was recommended.

_____ In addition to the topic(s) for which I was recommended, I can ____

_____ Instead of the topic(s) for which I was recommended, I can ____

SECTION IV: Grade Level, Notice Needed, Equipment

1. Please check all grades which you think would benefit from your information:
   Kindergarten_____ Grades 1-6_____ Grades 7-9_____ Grades 10-12_____
2. How much advance notice would you need? ______________________
